MIMS 2.85 - The Deep State POS Theory: people really hate the CIA & FBI.

Sf. R. Careaga, BSEE, MSTOM
February 2023

Keywords: CIA - FBI - Deep State

ABSTRACT

Theoretically, based on the positive media presentation of the CIA and FBI missions, people should adore these two institutions. But now that they are well known as the core of the Deep State issue, with connections weaving into the DOJ, State Department, NSA, DIA, and other alphabet agencies, people have a very negative opinion. The CIA is known as the center of bad idea operations like Paperclip¹, MK-ULTRA², and various experimentation exercises, as well as a well-known penchant for psyops on the American Public, and likely connections to the George Hickey³/Secret Service involvement in the JFK assassination⁴. The FBI is supposed to chase down contraband and kidnappers, but are lately refusing to prosecute pedophiles⁵ for fear of connections to political allies, and to CYOA on issues like McAfee⁶ and Epstein's fake suicides⁷. Their blatant politicization⁸, and obvious high-level ineptitude in dealing with treason, election fraud, modern drug-related terrorism, and kidnapping, makes them far less popular with the public than they would normally be. At this point, it seems likely that the Strategic Division of Homeland Security, or other counter intel, or even the BATF or DEA have better reputations for service and anti-corruption than the CIA or FBI.

Unfortunately, this may make the CIA special ops services difficult for operators, and probably indicates the FBI itself needs to be dismantled, with its mission sets split and offloaded to the appropriate agencies. While the CIA is very corrupt, with an unknown-sized unofficial black budget⁹, potentially exceeding that of the Pentagon, the FBI was born to be corrupt, with Hoover's development of files from honeytraps, for the purposes of blackmail and coercion¹⁰. It's the core seed of many problems, from instigating the January 6th riots¹¹, for political reasons, to being 14 out of 16 people involved in the fake Whitmer assassination attempt¹², and to even hiding key evidence in the Rittenhouse trial for as long as possible to sway public opinion against gun owners and/or white male patriots¹³. This is not only wrong, racist, and POS behavior; it's actually likely to instigate a civil war. The author thinks it is incredibly likely the FBI and CIA may be under the sway of foreign investors and adversaries, (NGOs, secret societies, Black Rock, etc.) and might be arms of the New World Order, which exists to bring about an anti-American fascist One World Government Technocracy (neo-feudalism). If these are connected, then we must assume the worst potential outcome, and this explains many of the negative lines of evidence for the recent (fifteen years or less - LOCKSTEP¹⁴=2010) POS behaviors they've undergone. In this paper there is a mega-table of these stories, such as they can be uncovered, and a large citation stack.

The distribution in Figure 3 is, overall, fairly even. The moderately higher % for positive views on the Army/National Guard might relate to post World War 2 nostalgia and reminiscence, and the weakness of the Space Force is undoubtedly due to its young service time (2 years). The real surprise isn't the consistent 16.7% breakdown for other branches, but the weakness of the Coast Guard and especially the Air Force, which had 0 respondents identify as their favorite branch.

What is your favorite Special Ops?

The overwhelming dominance of the Navy SEALs is probably owing to a combination of two main factors: a) the broad marketing blitz and stellar overall record of the SEALs, and the public perception of their upstanding behaviors and service. And b) actual notoriety and competency, particularly in taking out Osama Bin Laden (officially speaking). How the Air Force JSOC team had so many positive responses while the main branch had so few, is not clear.

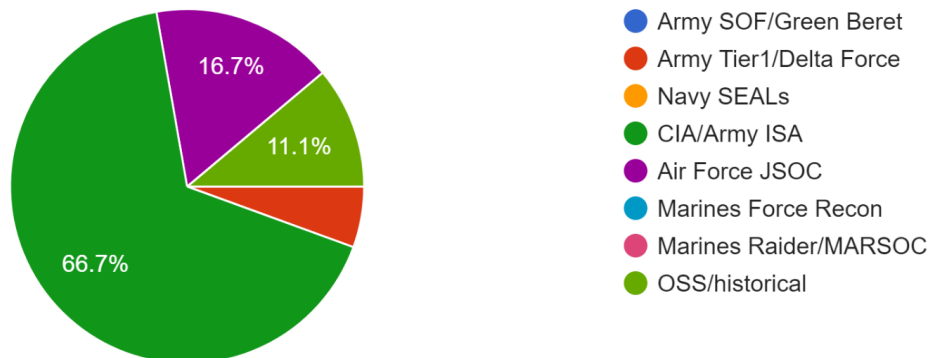

Figure 5 has been clearly influenced by the CIA name. If Army ISA was all that was listed, it is likely the public would not have selected them, or rarely. But the fact that so many ISA agents are from the Army but associated with the Campus has clouded this survey! That's how toxic the CIA reputation is. Note that once again many respondents (more in fact that favored) despise the Air Force JSOC. A surprising number are opposed to the OSS, despite its positive historical use in World War 2. Perhaps they are associating this with the formation of the CIA??

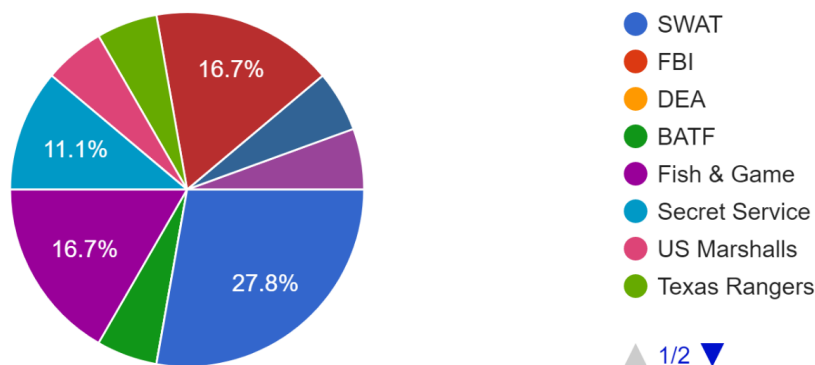

Figure 6 has a great and wide distribution of opinions, and SWAT is the dominant. Those that favor the FBI are minority versus those that hate the FBI (see Figure 2). And, not shockingly, Fish & Game is hated on account (no doubt) of their propensity for unconstitutional no-warrant, no-knock raids, which endanger lives, violate rights, and are contemptible all around.

FBI POS Behavior

The following is a brief, despite how it appears, list of absolute Piece of Shit behaviors of the FBI in recent memory. We are not reaching to the ancient past, here. Just everything since declaring that patriots and people who love the constitution, or the environment, are likely to be terrorists, in a brochure in the mid 1990s.
